Jane and Julia Bragan talent winners for Denmark Farm Bureau

Misses Jane and Julia Bragan sang their way to talent winners for the Denmark Farm Bureau Tuesday night. They represented their community in the county contest at the Statesboro High School auditorium Friday night.

Amelia Sue and Raymond Waters placed second in the contest with a piano duet.

Rev. Cliff Davis led the invocation to open the Denmark meeting.

Isaac Bunch, their president, brought up a number of items that needed attention around the building. He asked C. C. DeLoach, Lewis Ward and Arthur Nubert, Sr., to repair the roof.

Mrs. Cloyce T. Martin and her committee on tables to provide seats for them. R. P. Miller was asked to get the water pump repaired. Then to work out something relative to a system of keeping the building clean and in repair, he named W. W. Jones to work with Mr. Miller and the others on the details and have a monthly inspection was a part of the program.

Mrs. Martin and Mrs. W. H. Zetterover, secretary, presented the program. Mrs. V. J. Rowe and Rev. Mrs. Davis were judges.

BROOKLET
J. H. Wyatt, president of the Brooklet chapter, advised the group he would prepare a list of certain ones to help work on the cancer fund drive.

John Cronley, chairman of the county ASC committee, stated that it would not be possible to ever plant tobacco even a hundredth of an acre this time. Growers will have some seven days to meet compliance, he pointed out. However, this compliance must be met within the seven days or price supports would not be available.

Roy Marriott, fieldman for Lederle Laboratories, Chicago, discussed the wide use of antibiotics and sulfa drugs in controlling livestock diseases with the Brooklet group Wednesday night, and the Middleburg chapter Thursday night.

At the present one out of three pigs farrowed fails to go to market, which not only costs the farmer for the pig but the feed consumed by the pig that failed to reach market weight. However, these drugs are half of the $153,000,000 spent in the country last year for livestock medications was a waste, he stated. These drugs are tools and should be used as such.

Boy Scouts hold Fun-O-Ree here

Members of Boy Scout troops in this area attended a "Fun-O-Ree" camp last weekend at Camp Boy Scouts, Statesboro. Adult leaders for the camp were John A. Gee, district scout committee, John Groves, scoutmaster, Troop 40, and Ed Tally, executive scout director.

Preceding the meeting parents of the scouts were given a tour of the camp area, inspecting the area their sons had spent hours in clearing out, building up and fitting out for their camping area.

"The Cliff Cannon Hot," a new scout building under construction, was dedicated to John Gee in charge of the services. When completed the Cliff Cannon Hot will house rest rooms, showers, a meeting room and first aid station. In his statement Mr. Gee paid high tribute to Eagle Scout Cannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cannon, who met a tragic death in 1952. "Scout Cannon was an outstanding scout, a youth who always set a good example for those with whom he worked and played. Scout leaders today are happy to perpetuate his name in the dedication of this building which bears his name," Mr. Gee said.

A campfire and informal program closed the evening. 31 scouts attended the "Fun-O-Ree." 45 parents were guests of their scout sons.

MIDDLEGROUND
Miss Frank Deal, ASC administrative officer, advised the Middleground group that 7.5 per cent increase in peanuts was effective on all types and that growers could go ahead and plant them now. Those that do not want the increase have until May 27 to return any un- planted acreage to the county office for redistribution.

W. O. Griner advised the Ivanhoe club Friday night that the rural telephone program in Bulloch county was fast taking shape for immediate use. He thought that probably all sections in the county would be getting service in a few days, unless it was his own community. Several lines were having to be rerun in that area, he stated.

A nation picture on hog program was presented. The Ivanhoe club was a part of the Ivanhoe program.

GTC to present Spring Festival
The Georgia Teachers College laboratory school celebrated its annual Spring Festival Friday afternoon, May 6, with each grade—kindergarten through 12th—participating in an elaborate program of songs and dances.

A festival king and queen, chosen by secret ballot of the school, were crowned during the festivities.

Instead of the usual May-day theme, the grades this year have produced their own original interpretations of themes they have been studying in class. Most of the songs and dances on the program are original, according to Prof. Daniel Holey, the general director. Such themes as "Letter Writing" and "How Food Grows" will be interpreted in song and dance.

Julian A. Pafford, principal of the school, announced that the program is open to the public and that parents and friends of the students are urged to attend.

It was also announced that the king and queen this year would be chosen on the basis of sincerity rather than popularity.

During the past 10 years we have spent more than $277 million expanding and improving our facilities for serving you. This year we plan to spend $32 million more. Construction plans for the three years 1955-57 call for an investment of about $100 million.

In 1954 our customers used nearly 7 per cent more electricity than they did in 1953, and the trend of this use is still upward.

Last year we added 23,000 new customers to our lines. They included more than 20,000 new homes, 2,500 commercial establishments and 28 large industries. There was plenty of power for all.

Georgia is growing, and it has abundant, dependable, low-cost electricity to help it grow.

FARM BUREAU MEETS
The Denmark Farm Bureau held their regular meeting Tuesday evening in the Denmark school building. A delicious supper was served by the committee in charge. In the talent show, which took place after the business meeting, several prizes were awarded.

The state health director said he learned that fifteen states have not yet received vaccine from the Polio Foundation for the first round of shots. He stated that he believes that a shipment of the Foundation vaccine for Georgia may be expected to arrive during the week of May 9.

"We will notify chairmen of each county vaccination committee as soon as we learn that Georgia's shipment of vaccine for the second round of shots is on the way," Dr. Sellers said.

Julian A. Pafford, principal of the school, announced that the program is open to the public and that parents and friends of the students are urged to attend.

It was also announced that the king and queen this year would be chosen on the basis of sincerity rather than popularity.

Salute TO GEORGIA COUNTIES

Macon County ANDERSONVILLE PRISON

Andersonville National Cemetery and Prison Park, used as a prison during the War Between the States, is thirteen miles south of Macon. The original breastworks are still standing, and Providence Spring, supposed to have burst from the earth in answer to the prayers of prisoners, is still flowing. Modern Macon County typifies the new balance of Georgia agriculture. Peanut production is so tremendous that one firm has erected the world's second-largest silos to hold their stocks of Macon peanuts. Peach production is large and growing, and beef cattle graze all over the county, including one 10,000-acre ranch.

In Macon County and throughout Georgia, the U.S. Brewers Foundation works constantly to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interest of the people of Georgia, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing "self-regulation" program.

THANK YOU, FOLKS!

On Wednesday, May 11, more than 1,250 friends of Rural Electrification joined the 41 Rural Electric Co-ops of Georgia—and helped us celebrate our 20th Birthday.

Many traveled 500 miles or more to be with us at the Atlanta Division, University of Georgia. They say they were well rewarded for their effort. We say—"Thank you, friends!"

They heard the House Speaker Sam Rayburn laud the farmers of Georgia for their great achievement for creating their own utilities—to serve themselves with low-cost, non-profit power!

Thousands of others saw and heard the famous Texan on TV and Radio—or read about his first visit to Georgia in their daily or weekly newspapers. We thank all those information services for their wide and complete coverage of our birthday party.

From less than 3 out of 100 rural families who enjoyed electricity in 1935—to over 9 out of 10—is a record of which every Georgian should be proud. Cooperation did it. It always will!
